

WEDNESDAY.....JANUARY 6

Funeral of Miss Crain.

The funeral of Miss Velma Crain took place from the residence of Mrs. Cochran yesterday afternoon. Rev. Eddy read the Episcopal ritual. The house was crowded with friends of the deceased. The choir sang "Abide With Me," "Asleep in Jesus" and the burial anthem. Miss Torreyson sang as a solo "Come Unto Me."

The coffin was covered with flowers and a floral vacant chair was left on the grave. The pall-bearers were Will Day, Will Taylor, Paul Thompson, Joe McCarthy, James Torreyson and Ed Vanderlieh.

Major Gardner, Jr., is in from Wellington.

The California legislature opened up yesterday.

Joseph Murphy the Irish comedian, is ill at the Occidental Hotel in San Francisco.

The case of Frank Golden vs. Miss Louise Rinkle will come up before Judge Stone this morning at 10 o'clock.

It is said that for a week before the 700 acres of Irish bog slide into Killarney lake, the peasants heard the wail of the Banshee in the hills at night.

Geo. W. Kitzmeyer's Furniture Store is the place to find many useful articles for holiday presents, at great bargains.

Dennis Meagher, a brother to Mrs. Al Lenhart, was stricken with paralysis in Virginia City yesterday.

Bob Fitzsimmons signed articles yesterday for a fight with Corbett on March 17, for a purse and a side bet of $10,000.

Miss May, the daughter of C. H. Peterson of Reno, died Monday. Mr. Peterson was deputy sheriff of Ormsby county under Botsford.

The question of jurisdiction in the Jones case will be taken to the Supreme Court, and an effort will also be made to transfer it to the United States Court.

Senator Jones was in the city yesterday, a guest at the Arlington. He had a string of friends calling on him all day but in the evening he went to Empire and remained over night as the guest of ex-Senator Williams.

A Livingston was about town yesterday feeling very jolly over the fact that he was the father of a daughter. Under the circumstances a few bottles judiciously dropped into the newspaper offices would be about the proper thing.

Senatorial Gossip

The Senatorial pot was bubbling and simmering yesterday with quite a heat on. Senator Jones came down and opened headquarters at the Arlington. He has but very little to say on the situation, but there is a gleam in his eye when he converses on the subject that indicates that he's about to strip for the fray and make the battle of his life. He realizes that there is a fight on, and his friends say that since he has had so many easy things, he wants a championship fight in which he can demonstrate his gladiatorial ability and ring generalship.

Nixon's lieutenants say that he will also show up at the Capital today establish headquarters at the Ormsby and throw down the gage of battle. Yesterday some parties waited on Gen. Clark to secure him to make an anti-Jones speech in the Opera House, but he declined to state whether he would or not.

An effort is being made by the Nixon contingent to induce Clark to deliver a lecture on the legal status of a non resident without any personal allusion to anyone, but so far the General has declined to be drawn into the controversy.

Meanwhile the friends of Governor Sadler propose to put him in the fight, and it is rumored that the Governor is not adverse to the programme.

A. C. Cleveland is also mentioned as a probable candidate who will come in with manipulations and some dough.

Meanwhile several parties are figuring on the complimentary vote of the Republicans. Judge Bigelow wants it but ex-Governor Colecord is regarded as the "logical candidate" as he has remained in the State since he retired from office, and Bigelow is packing his household goods ready to pitch his tent in California.

In case Jones had 21 votes and Nixon 21 on joint ballot, the man who held the three Republican votes could pitch the Senatorship wherever he pleased. It would make an interesting dead-lock and in such a case no one could guess where the plum would fall. Nixon's friends claim 20 votes, but the Jones people laugh when the figures are mentioned and say nothing.

Ye Foolish Printers.

The following incident illustrates the extent to which the printing business is demoralized by "cut-rate" printers:

A solicitor for a firm of printers called upon a business man recently to ask for a share of his printing order.

"Do you people pay rent for the premises you occupy?" asked the business man.

"Of course we do," replied the solicitor.

"Do you employ competent men to do your work?"

"Yes."

"Do you give them fair wages?"

"Yes."

"Do they get their wages every week?"

"Of course they do."

"Do you pay for your paper and other materials?"

"Yes, we do."

"Then you can't afford to do my work. The people who are doing it at present must get their labor for nothing and must steal the paper. Good morning!"—Pacific Typograph.

Poem on Winter.

The editor of the Reese River Revue occasionally slides into a poetic condition, and he recently produced the following genuine winter poem:

And winter came like a thousand of brick:

His breathings were ice cakes six inches thick,

The breath of his nostrils made one tingle and thrill

And swift running Reese River stood suddenly still.

It is said that the editor spent a greater part of the summer on this versification and will also work all winter on a spring poem of somewhat greater length

Pope Seriously Indisposed.

London, Jan. 5.—A special from Rome says that the Pope has been seriously indisposed since Shnday. His condition is causing serious apprehension.

An editor up north appeals to his subscribers in this unique way: "If you have frequent headaches, dizziness and fainting spells accompanied by chills, chillblains, epilepsy and jaundice, is a sign that you are not well, but are liable to die at any minute. Pay your subscription a year in advance, and thus make yourself solid for a good obituary notice."

Souza's concert band will reach the coast on this season's tour.

The Offer Refused.

The offer of the Meder brothers to lease the Carson Opera House for a monthly rental has been refused by the Opera House Company. D. A. Bender was in favor of the lease but Coffin and Kila would not consent to it.

They agreed to put in storm doors in front of the house and make many needed improvements, which the public are clamoring for, but the offer was refused.

The APPEAL regrets that the offer was declined as it would have resulted in changes which would have been very acceptable to the public.

A Murder.

The Gazette learns further particulars of a recent shooting at Lovelton, resulting in the death of F. B. Hooley, a boy 16 years old. It seems that the slayer, a man by the name of Hubbard, shot young Hooley through a window of the house of H. Hooley. The preliminary examination was held last week and the testimony being closed Justice Timmons dismissed the defendant. Opinions as to the dismissal are very conflicting. From what the Gazette has been able to learn the killing was unjustifiable under the law, but perhaps a full understanding of all the testimony would place the officer in a different light.

Attempt to Murder.

Sacramento, Jan. 5.—At 1 o'clock this afternoon there was a thrilling scene in the postoffice when P. J. Hulsman, a wealthy young farmer who lives near Folsom, attempted to murder Mrs. W. T. Krigbaum, his sister. She had married against the wishes of the family, and ever since the ceremony there has been much quarreling. Hon. Patrick Reddy of San Francisco was passing the post-office, and ran into the building and caught Hulsman aiming the pistol at his sister, whom he had knocked to the floor. Reddy has but one hand. With that hand he grabbed the pistol, which badly lacerated the lawyer's thumb. Hulsman managed to get the pistol away, and attempted to shoot; but the lawyer rushed upon him, disarmed him and turned him over to the police. Hulsman was this afternoon released from custody upon a $2,000 bond.

Tied Up and Robbed.

A switchman in Reno, named Burks was taken in hand by three tramps, tied up to a box car and relieved of thirty-three dollars, which he had just received from the pay car last Friday night. Burks was securely fastened, with one rope around his neck, which held up his chin so he could not call for assistance. Fortunately for him a man came along soon after he was left by the ruffians and released him, else he would have been dead before morning, as the night was intensely cold.

Constable Gillooly.

The newly elected head of the Carson Constabulary is now fully installed in office and is already girding up his loins and fashioning a club to teach the evil deer that he can't "monkey widd der county government."

Mr. Gillooly was in his younger days a Sheriff in California and a terror to all grades of law breakers. He now proposes to put the law breakers under the heel of constitutional government and regulate the ways of the ungodly.

MARRIED

Miss Maud Daugherty was married at Elko Saturday to W. L. Craighead, a freight conductor on the S. P. Miss Daugherty is well and favorably known in Carson, being the daughter of W. B. Daugherty.
